

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A semiconductor device of the present invention includes an inner lead, a first ball formed on the inner lead, a bonding pad formed on a semiconductor device, a second ball formed on the bonding pad, and a bonding wire connecting the first and second balls. The second ball is formed by mechanically deforming the bonding wire.

5